

SEXUAL ABUSERS DO NOT LOOK LIKE MONSTERS

TINA GARBY, PSY.D.
JULY 23, 2019

What type of person do you think of when you think of a sex offender?

What type of job/professions do you think of when you think of a sex offenders?

What characteristics would indicate to you that someone is a child molester or potential sexual abuser?

What behaviors would be red flags for you if you saw an adult doing them to a child?

What are grooming behaviors?

How do most offenders respond when confronted?

Take Home Points

- Sexual Abusers are often the last person you think they are.
- Sexual abusers are some of the most manipulative individuals you could meet.
- They wear masks that conceal others.
- They are adept at knowing which children to choose and are opportunistic.